Welcome from the President

Service Above Self: The Road To Excellence

The 2009-2010 academic year is upon us and let me say we are honored to serve you! Yes, service is an honor and often the most valuable contribution an institution or individual is called upon to provide. When then President-elect Barack Obama called for a national day of service to mark the federal Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday, he issued the following call to all of us:

"We are not just asking the American people for one day of service, we're asking you to make an ongoing commitment of your time...Because that's how we're going to rebuild this country and meet our great challenges...together. Dr. King himself once remarked that everybody can be great because anybody can serve."

It's no coincidence that in this spirit, we're embarking on the most important year in the history of our institution! I hope you'll join me in rededicating yourself to the kind of service made possible only through placing service to others above service to ourselves. Undoubtedly you're already familiar with this as you commit to bettering the life of your family by taking responsibility for your education.

I'd like to challenge you to prepare yourself now for the journey to excellence that lies ahead. In difficult economic times, "Service Above Self" calls us to be committed and creative for the good of others. This creed will allow us to soar rather than settle!

Sincerely,

Carolane Williams, Ph.D.
BCCC President

Author Omar Tyree to visit BCCC

The BCCC Library and the Office of Alumni Affairs are collaborating in bringing Omar Tyree, a New York Times best-selling author, 2001 NAACP Image Award recipient for Outstanding Literature in Fiction, and 2006 Phillis Wheatley Literary Award winner for Body of Work in Urban Fiction, to do a book reading and signing. He has been recognized as one of the most renowned contemporary writers in the literary community. Mr. Tyree is now branching out into the world of feature films, business lectures, and children's books.

Revision of Student Code of Conduct and Mediation & Ombudsman Functions

An ad-hoc committee was formed to review the current BCCC "Student Code of Conduct". The team will examine the "Code of Conduct" and evaluate "Best Practices" in the local and regional metro area. The new "Code of Conduct" will impact both credit & non-credit students on campus. As an offshoot of the creation of the ad-hoc committee, staff will be assigned throughout the college, to become trained mediators (Ombudsman) on campus. The professionally trained staff will provide assistance when conflict, disputes, & disruptions occur at RPC, HC, BCED, & LC.

Vice President of Student Affairs Message

Pledging Commitment To Our Students

On behalf of the Student Affairs division, I would like to extend you a warm welcome to the 2009-2010 Academic Year! I am delighted you have made the decision to join or rejoin the Baltimore City Community College (BCCC) family.

Thank you for choosing BCCC as your college of choice; you won't be disappointed. BCCC has played an important role in the community since 1947, providing higher education for students. We are the only community college in the city of Baltimore, the only State-sponsored community college and simply a great place to learn.

The division of Student Affairs is deeply committed to BCCC's educational mission and to helping you achieve your educational goals. There's a lot happening in Student Affairs and it's all good.

Currently, the Division is comprised of the following offices: Admissions, International Student Services, Testing Center, Records and Registration, Veterans Affairs, Financial Aid, Honors and Scholars, TRIO/STAIRS-Student Support Services, Upward Bound, Educational Talent Search, Health and Wellness Services, Student Success Center, Career and Job Placement, Disability Support Services, Student Activities, and Intercollegiate Athletics. Look forward to some exciting changes in our structure soon to include a new First Year Experience and Honors Program and a Judicial Affairs Office.

We will also be looking for new ways to engage you with social networking tools like Twitter, Facebook and MySpace. The Division provides a rich array of co-curricular and extra curricular activities. You owe it to yourself to take advantage of these many opportunities.

In Student Affairs, we believe that every student can succeed and we are committed to getting you there from here. Remember, you have an important role to play. I encourage you to set the highest standards, strive to achieve them, remember your purpose for being here and take full responsibility for your learning.

It is our goal to make your BCCC experience outstanding and rewarding. We pledge to our students the highest level of professionalism and commitment. The Student Affairs Division and many of our colleagues throughout the College take pride in sharing our pledge to students which is located on Page 10.

If there is any way the Student Affairs family can assist you, please contact my office at 410-462-8301 or through electronic mail at StudentAffairs1@Bccc.Edu

Here's to your success and making the connection. Have an amazingly successful semester.

RU Ready 2 Start the New Academic Year?

Welcome Back to BCCC!

Dr. Alicia B. Harvey-Smith, Vice President for Student Affairs, and Daimen Poole, President of the Student Governance Board, cordially invite you to participate in the fall 2009 Convocation. Convocation is an exciting and recommended experience for students as we come together to celebrate learning and the beginning of the new academic year.

Patrice Harris, from Fox 45 News-Baltimore, will be the Mistress of Ceremonies. It is highly recommended that all students attend Convocation. Refreshments will be served.

According to Merriam-Webster.com, Convocation is a ceremonial assembly of members of a college or university, celebrating the beginning of the new academic year.

Fall 2009 Convocation

BCCC welcomed at the BioPark

Students now starting classes at Baltimore City Community College's brand new Life Sciences Institute at the University of Maryland Baltimore (UMB) BioPark are on a track to qualify for jobs in high-demand bio-medical career fields. Their prospects are bright-with future graduates potentially earning a decent salary in as little as one year.

Researchers, laboratory technicians and assistants in fields such as bio-science and environmental science are the types of high demand careers that students can enter while being trained at the Life Science Institute at the BioPark.

Andre Williams provides student services at BioPark

At the Life Sciences Institute, you will enjoy the advantage of studying on a campus shared by top-notch researchers at the University of Maryland and numerous cutting-edge private research enterprises.

A student services generalist will be available two days a week to provide basic information and services in a variety of student service areas. Students will be able to apply for admission, register, apply for financial aid, and take care of practically all business. However, bill pay will be available only at the Liberty and Harbor campuses unless the student chooses to pay online with a credit card.

If you need more information about the BCCC Life Sciences Institute, contact Dr. Kathleen Kennedy Norris at 410-462-7650 or e-mail her at knorrisi@bccc.edu.

Maryland Center for Construction Technologies (MCCT)

Construction in the Baltimore area has been booming over the past few years with $1.36 billion under construction and $2.48 billion in the construction planning stages. In Maryland, up to 11,155 new jobs in construction will be created for skill levels ranging from high school to those with advanced college degrees. The growth of the construction industry and the demand for new workers is taking place in a region where the city unemployment rate is 57% higher than the state-wide rate.

BCCC partners with MCCT to provide training in the construction trades

Baltimore City Community College and its workforce and industry partners will provide hands-on instruction in the construction trades, delivered by industry experts. The Maryland Center for Construction Technologies (MCCT) supports lifelong learning for the construction industry. Programs at MCCT support skills and professional development during all stages of your career!

The Maryland Center for Construction Technologies is located in East Baltimore at 901 N. Milton Ave.

Workforce Creation Scholarships

Baltimore City Community College, responding to the Governor's "Call to Action" to address workforce needs in high-demand career fields, has launched a major new initiative to make affordable, quality education more accessible than ever through 80 Workforce Creation Scholarships annually – including tuition, fees and books – to high school graduates, non-traditional students, veterans, single parents and ex-offenders.

Recipients must commit to actively take part in exciting wrap-around services designed to support their success!

A student must:

- Enroll in an approved degree, certificate or critical workforce shortage program at BCCC.
- Be a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen.
- Be a Baltimore City resident.
- Demonstrate financial need.
- Enroll either full-time (12-15 credits) or part-time (6-11 credits).

Career Development + CSC = Jobs for You

The Career Development & Job Placement Center at BCCC is looking to welcome CSC, a contractor for the U.S. Census. CSC has partnered with the BCCC Career Development & Job Placement Center to hire 2,500 to 3,000 reliable, quality, temporary workers from the Greater Baltimore area.

CSC is a global leader in providing technology-enabled business services, employing 91,000 globally and grossing $17.3 billion in revenues last year. In May 2008, CSC ranked #3 among Fortune 500's America's Information Technology Services Companies.

The company will capture 2010 U.S. Census data for the Baltimore area and around the country. As part of this effort, CSC is looking to hire Managers, Supervisors/leads, Administrators, Mail Sorters, Data Entry Operators, Scanning Operators, Warehouse Workers and more.

On September 22, 2009, CSC will hold an Open House at their 8411 Kelso Drive location in Essex, Md.

Interested applicants will be able to speak with recruiters and complete online employment applications.

Visit the Career Development & Job Placement Center located in the Main Building, Room 110.

Do You
Have A Question?

Did you know the Call Center is available to answer student questions six days a week? Regardless of complexity – a Call Center representative can answer any College-related question. Up-to-date information on school closings and delays, important deadlines such as graduation or withdrawals can all be handled with one phone call. The Call Center can also show you, step-by-step, how to use the Student Portal so you can register, add or drop courses, view your bill or schedule – all from your PC!

Call Center representatives are available Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-8 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

BCCC Panthers Men's Basketball Signs First Recruit

Wyatt Smith

The Baltimore City Community College men's basketball program has achieved what could become a competitive milestone in its Division II posture.

Fourth-year head coach Terry Maczko announced the signing of the program's first recruit since closing out the regular season. Aegis' All-Harford County and 2009 McDonald's All American candidate shooting guard/small forward Wyatt Smith from The John Carroll School, committed to play for the Panthers for the 2009-2010 basketball season.

Listed as one of the top prospects in the Maryland area, Wyatt is the 54th rated player in the mid-Atlantic region by Capitol Hoops.com. At 6'5" and 225 lbs., Wyatt is a long and athletic wing who can get to the hole and finish. He also possesses a deep perimeter shot. The Panthers hope to look to Wyatt for scoring and rebounding opportunities.

"We are extremely excited to begin this new era and get a young man like Wyatt to play for our program," said Coach Maczko.

Student Spotlight: Veda Moore - A New Vision and Purpose

Living with HIV and sober from drugs and alcohol for over nine years, Veda Moore has proved she is a survivor. At the age of 50, Veda enrolled at Baltimore City Community College in the spring of 2005 to fulfill a dream deferred. For so long the vision of pursuing a college degree seemed out of reach due to her issues of low self-esteem and self-worth that caused her life to spiral out of control for many years. With a new focus and purpose she attended BCCC orientation and found the faculty, staff and students to be patient, kind and encouraging. Taking full advantage of campus resources, Veda enrolled in the TRIO/SSS-STAIRS Program and Disability Support Service Center where she found genuine support from the staff and an array of services to help her succeed personally and academically.

"TRIO/SSS-STAIRS & Disability Support Services helped me to understand if I change the way I look at things, the things I look at will change."

Ms. Moore has a 3.6 G.P.A and has received numerous awards and honors such as the BCCC 2009 President's Cup & Distinguished Scholar awards, membership into the Delta Alpha Pi Honors Society and the Phi Theta Kappa International Honors Society.

In an effort to give back to the community, Veda volunteers at Johns Hopkins Hospital's First Step Program. She attends morning rounds and assists counselors in community group sessions. She is also a member of the Patients Advisory Board at Johns Hopkins Hospital. In 2004 Ms. Moore graduated from the hospital's Leadership, Empowerment, Advocacy, and Participation Program (LEAP VIII).

Ms. Moore graduated with honors in May 2009 with an associate degree in Addiction Counseling. After graduation Veda plans to seek a position working with patients newly diagnosed with HIV/AIDS, to "help them realize there is life after diagnosis."

Student Focus Group

Disability Support Service Center = Success

The Disability Support Services Center (DSSC) holds as its goal the success and enrichment of every student with a disability at BCCC. Qualified students with documented disabilities are readily provided with reasonable accommodations at BCCC. Accommodations are viewed as a means of helping students with disabilities to meet essential standards, not get around them.

Services We Offer - The DSSC serves students with learning, hearing, visual, mobility, medical, and psychological disabilities. If you have a disability, a DSSC staff member can help you develop an individualized plan to make the most of your college career.

To register with the DSSC follow the steps listed below:

1. Visit the DSSC and obtain the Disability Verification Form.
2. Have the Disability Verification Form completed by a qualified professional.
3. Submit the completed DVF to DSSC.

Once you complete these steps the DSSC counselor reviews the DVF and supporting documents to certify eligibility for services, and will meet with you for an intake interview and discuss reasonable accommodations.

Accessing your BCCC computer login

Your BCCC login can be used to permit you onto workstations assigned for students use at the College. Your login account will also allow you to access your personal (Web-based) BCCC email account.

Once logged into a BCCC student workstation your account will allow you to access all applications and files associated with the lab or classroom you are using and allow you access to the Internet from any student workstation.

Before using any BCCC account ALL students should be aware of the "BCCC Student Computer Use & Internet Access Policy."

Have you got the Hook-Up?

Once you have registered and been accepted as a BCCC student, your student login account will be created and ready for use 24 hours after you have successfully registered.

You may visit the BCCC Library or Open Computer Lab (Main Bldg. Room 53A) to obtain your username and password.

Logging onto a Workstation

When logging onto a BCCC Student workstation your logon domain is Andromeda.

Accessing E-mail

You may access your BCCC e-mail on the Internet from the BCCC home page (<http://www.bccc.edu>) from any computer connected to the Internet (i.e. on campus, work or at home). After you have clicked BCCC Student E-mail you will be taken to a secure website where you will be asked to enter your username and password. When logging into the BCCC Web-based student email system you must specify your logon domain which is "Andromeda." It must be entered with a trailing backslash, and your password, in the box designated.

Civility Matters @BCCC

Civility is an institutional imperative at Baltimore City Community College. We are committed to ensuring a safe, pleasant workplace and learning environment for students, faculty, staff and visitors.

Civility at Baltimore City Community College is defined as behavior that demonstrates respect for the rights, needs, and feelings of others. Furthermore, civility is acting in a courteous and polite manner to other people through behavior, attitude and words.

All members of the BCCC community should strive to create a positive learning environment centered on behavior that is characterized by the standards of conduct that we all value.

Tolerance and respect for others is expected of all members of the College community.

Concerns about the civil behavior of BCCC faculty, staff and students should be reported to:

BCCC Compliance Hotline

1.800.849.9281 or via the website <http://www.mycompliancereport.com> the access ID is "BCL".

PLEDGE TO STUDENTS

The Student Is...

... the most important person on the campus.

Without students there would be no need for the institution.

... not a cold enrollment statistic but a flesh and blood human being with feelings and emotions like our own.

... not someone to be tolerated so that we can do our thing. They are our thing.

... not an interruption of our work, but the purpose of it. We are not doing them a favor by serving them. They are doing us a favor by giving us the opportunity to do so.

Let us know how we are doing. We welcome your feedback.

WILL YOU TAKE THE PLEDGE?

Taking the "Student Pledge" is a way that each individual signals to himself and others within the community, that they are serious about the learning experience. At BCCC, we want every student to reach their full potential. The pursuit of education is always a collaborative process entered into by the student, faculty, staff and others who are committed to their success. So, congratulations on taking the pledge and have a GREAT academic year.
